

Hybrid course planning templates

Come the fall, many teachers will be doing something they've never done before: hybrid teaching. "Hybrid teaching" means that some students will be in the class with them, while others will log on virtually.

Hybrid teaching requires a different kind of lesson planning, one that accommodates students in class and those learning online. Below are hybrid lesson planning templates to make hybrid teaching more successful, compliments of RingCentral.

Hybrid lesson planning template for simulcasting

Here's a hybrid lesson planning template for teachers who will be delivering a live lesson in person, with students attending online synchronously:

| In-class group | Virtual group |
|--|---|
